

California Women's Well-Being Index Domestic Violence Fact Sheet

The California Women's Well-Being Index provides a comprehensive, composite measure of how women are faring in each of the state's 58 counties. The Index encompasses five "dimensions" – Health, Personal Safety, Employment & Earnings, Economic Security, and Political Empowerment – each of which is made up of six indicators. This fact sheet shows the value and rank for all 58 counties for the Domestic Violence Indicator (see reverse side). Data by race and ethnicity are not available.

Average Annual Domestic Violence Calls for Assistance Per 100,000 Females, 2018-2022

Note: The definition of "domestic violence" varies by law enforcement agency, and the data may reflect different types of domestic relationships. The number of domestic violence calls for assistance are not restricted to calls made by women.

Note: The definition of "domestic violence" varies by law enforcement agency, and the data may reflect different types of domestic relationships. The number of domestic violence calls for assistance are not restricted to calls made by women. Estimates for certain counties were deemed unreliable due to data limitations. The following counties have been grouped to improve the reliability of the data for this indicator: 1) Alpine and Mono.
